

Thank you for your application.

As the founder of the company, it is very important to me that every member of our agency team knows exactly what we expect of them, what skills and services we offer our clients as one of Austria's largest agency groups, what strategies we pursue and what we stand for as a brand. You will find a lot of information about this on our website under the navigation point "Culture".

In addition, this application should inspire you to think about your personal and professional development, to further your education and thus to be able to cover a fulfilling field of activity through competence, commitment and personal responsibility. We also want to make a contribution to your personal and professional advancement. After all, our agency is shaped and defined by each individual team member.

I hope that filling out our questionnaire will not be too much trouble for you and wish you every success.

Mag. Rainer Reichl

CEO | Reichl und Partner

We are very curious: Please complete the following questionnaire and then upload it to our career portal with your further application documents.

Thank you very much!
